Team Tactics

🕒 0,5 - 1 hours 👥 12 - 80

Team Tactics has only one simple rule: maximise the value of your poker chips.

Can your team adapt quickly to major changes? How do you proceed when each team follows a different strategy? How is communication within your team and between teams? And what if the information you rely on changes? Can you adapt your method and remain successful?

Learn with your team to deal with change and adapt flexibly to it.

Each group tries to achieve the highest number of points in the game with the chips they have been given. To do this, the teams exchange information and/or chips but not everyone knows how much each colour is worth, which combinations are possible and... whether the information they have obtained is correct.

Does your strategy keep its promises until the end or do you miss important information?

During this teambuilding, your team will learn that change can take you forward - if you adapt quickly and coordinate with each other. The biggest challenge is not change itself, but the ability to respond.

BUILD STRONG BUSINESSES !

Companies who choose Team Tactics are looking for a short activity that reflects the need for teams to be agile, responsive and flexible.

Team Tactics creates a highly competitive environment, in which the following two messages are key: “Opportunities abound. If you don’t seize them, your competitors will!” and “The biggest challenge is not change per se, but the ability to respond to it.”
